

VIR ERAT

ij.
T Here was a man * in the land na- med Job, per- fect and up- right, and fea- ring God: and Satan went forth that he might tempt him: and power was given unto him by the Lord o-ver his possions and o-ver his flesh: and he destroy-ed all his sub-stance, and his sons: and smote al- so his flesh with sore boils.

The image shows a musical score for a Latin text. It consists of eight staves of music, each with a treble clef and a key signature of one flat (B-flat). The music is written in a style that appears to be a simplified or early form of notation, using black squares for notes and stems. The text is written below the staves, with some words on a line above the staff and others below. The text is in Latin and describes the story of Job. The first staff begins with a large 'T' and 'ij.' above it. The text continues across the staves, with some words on a line above the staff and others below. The music ends with a double bar line on the eighth staff.
